

INTRODUCTION TO GLOBAL DEVELOPMENT

INTA 2050-A

Spring 2016

Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays 9:05-9:55

Instructional Center, Room 115

There are no prerequisites for this course

This course fulfills the Social Science and Global Perspective GEN ED requirements at Georgia Tech

Instructor: Alberto Fuentes (alberto.fuentes@inta.gatech.edu)

Office Hours: Wednesdays, 10-12 or by appointment in office 316, Habersham (781 Marietta St)

Overview

This course introduces students to the history, theory and practice of international development. Students will examine the different meanings and objectives of global development, paying particular attention to economic growth, poverty alleviation, inequality reduction, capability enhancement, the defense of human rights and sustainability. They will also learn about competing theories of development, with particular emphasis on modernization, structuralist and neoliberal paradigms. Students will also be introduced to different actors actively involved in the field, such as the state, non-governmental organizations (NGOs), official development assistance (ODA) agencies, and business. Through real-world cases, the course will address the implications of development initiatives and projects for demographic groups in the Global South – including marginalized or vulnerable populations, such as indigenous groups, and women – and the environment. This introductory course will prepare students to better understand, assess and participate in the project of global development. Students will also be ready for more advanced courses on development.

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

1. Demonstrate the ability to describe the social, political, and economic forces that influence social behavior and the global system
2. Describe, measure and assess the different goals pursued in international development
3. Understand and critically evaluate some of the prevalent theories in the field
4. Use this knowledge to analyze and address issues of immediate international concern.
5. Describe key international financial institutions, states, firms, and civil society organizations and explain how they frame development issues
6. Express their arguments clearly and effectively both in written reports and class discussions

Required Text

Haslam, P., Jessica Shafer and Pierre Baudet (eds). Introduction to International Development: Approaches, actors, and issues. Canada: Oxford University Press, 2012 (available in bookstore and Amazon.com).

All additional readings will be available on the class website.

Requirements:

- Attendance and Participation (10%): Attendance is required, and students must complete the assigned readings before class in order to participate in class activities. Absences will count against students' participation score.
- Worksheets (15%): Throughout the course, students will participate in different in-class activities, including discussions, small group projects and case analyses. In some of those activities, students will be required to complete written worksheets. There are three possible grades for the worksheets: check plus (✓+), check minus (✓-) and 0. There will be 16 worksheets spread out throughout the semester. The lowest worksheet score will be dropped.
- Quizzes (20%): Students will complete 11 pop quizzes throughout the course. These short quizzes will have two short answer questions related to the readings for the class. The lowest score will be dropped.
- Midterm Exam (15%): The midterm exam will take place on February 17. More details will be provided one week before the exam.
- Essay (20%): On Friday, March 18, students will turn in one four-page essay. The questions to motivate the essay will be provided on Friday, March 11, one week before the due date.
- Final exam (20%) – The final exam will take place on April 29, from 11:30 a.m. – 2:20 p.m. Students will be required to write two essays. Questions for the essays will be provided on Wednesday, April 20.

ADAPTS

The instructor will work with ADAPTS so that all students have an equal opportunity for success. For information on ADAPTS, see <http://www.adapts.gatech.edu/>

Academic integrity and Honor Code

While students are encouraged to work together and collaborate with each other, you should clearly differentiate your work from that of others, including your peers and bibliographical sources. Complete and accurate representation of all direct quotations and paraphrased material is required. Plagiarizing will be addressed in accordance with the Georgia Tech Honor Code (<http://honor.gatech.edu/plugins/content/index.php?id=9>)
