Course Description:

This course serves as an advanced introduction to the study of US foreign policy. It has three broad aims. First, the course examines key internal and external factors that have had a bearing on the formulation and implementation of US foreign policy since the founding of the republic. Special attention will be paid to domestic institutions, actors, and processes as well as important entities in, and features of, the international system. Second, the course surveys major ideas and theoretical perspectives about the proper ends and means of US relations with the outside world. And third, the course examines the evolution of the place of the US in international affairs and US policy towards different parts of the world.

The course has three intended learning outcomes. By its end, students should:

1) demonstrate familiarity with domestic and international determinants shaping US foreign policy
2) be able to analyze, compare and critically assess major theoretical perspectives informing the conduct of, and debates about, US foreign policy
3) be able to explain the evolving role of the US in the world

Required Text:

This textbook is available for purchase in the GT Barnes & Noble bookstore. It is also on course reserve in the Main Library. Other readings will be available directly on the Canvas course website (canvas.gatech.edu) under “Files.” It is the responsibility of students to ensure access to resources posted on Canvas. Should you experience technical difficulties, contact the Office of Information Technology (http://www.oit.gatech.edu) for help.

Course Evaluation:

Students will be evaluated according to the following format:
Two closed-book exams, on September 16 and October 19 (worth 25% each)
Final open-book take-home exam, handed out via e-mail on Friday, November 20 and due on Monday, December 7 at 2 PM via email (40%)
Class participation (10%)
Extra credit up to 5% for outstanding class participation

You must take both exams, and hand in the final take-home exam, on their assigned dates. The two close-book exams can be appealed to the instructor within one week of their return. Students must email the instructor a detailed explanation of why their grade should increase. The instructor reserves the right to re-grade the entire assignment (i.e. not just the appealed part) and to increase, affirm or decrease the originally assigned grade.

You are expected to attend online classes and have the assigned readings completed before each class. Doing the assigned reading prior to each class is important since class time will regularly feature discussion. You should also follow US foreign policy-related events and developments by reading respectable news sources such as The New York Times, The Washington Post, The Wall Street Journal and The Economist. I also highly recommend following publications that concentrate on US foreign policy analysis such as Foreign Affairs, Foreign Policy, World Affairs, The National Interest, The American Interest, Washington Quarterly and Orbis.

As discussion is a vital part of the course, you regular and informed participation is essential. Students are going to be evaluated by the frequency as well as quality of their verbal and written contributions. Students can earn up to 5% extra credit for outstanding class participation.

Academic Integrity:

Georgia Tech aims to cultivate a community based on trust, academic integrity, and honor. Students are expected to act according to the highest ethical standards. For information on Georgia Tech’s Academic Honor Code, please visit http://www.catalog.gatech.edu/policies/honor-code/ or http://www.catalog.gatech.edu/rules/18/.

Any student suspected of cheating or plagiarizing on an exam or assignment will be reported to the Office of Student Integrity, which will investigate the incident and identify the appropriate penalty for violations.

Accommodations for Students with Disabilities:

If you are a student with learning needs that require special accommodation, contact the Office of Disability Services at (404) 894-2563 or http://disabilityservices.gatech.edu/, as soon as possible, to make an appointment to discuss your special needs and to obtain an accommodations letter. Please also e-mail me as soon as possible so that I know of your learning needs.

Communications Policy:

As your official GT email is the only means for the instructor to reach you outside the classroom, you are responsible for checking it daily. You are also asked to turn on to receive all the course-related notifications on Canvas.
Tips for Success:
1. Come to class.
2. Come to class having read and reflected on the assigned readings and prepared to engage in discussion.
3. Participate in class by both asking and answering questions and sharing your perspectives. There is no such thing as a bad or stupid question.
4. Make sure you understand the material for each class before attending the next class.
5. Form study groups with your peers both to compare notes and to get feedback on your grasp of the course material. Where relevant, study material/concepts comparatively and with reference to empirical examples.
6. Make use of all available resources including, but not limited to, the library and the instructor’s office hours. Reach out if you need additional assistance or support.
