

INTA 8803. CONTEMPORARY MEXICO Spring 2024

Prof. Alberto Fuentes (alberto.fuentes@inta.gatech.edu)

Overview

This course introduces students to the politics, economy and society of contemporary Mexico. The course is divided into three parts. In the first part, students will learn about Mexico's fascinating politics during the historical period encompassing the Revolution of 1910-1920, the 71-year period of one-party rule under the PRI, and the transition to democracy in the 1990s and 2000s. In the second part of the course, students will explore the four major economic models that competed for dominance during this 100-year period: liberalism, agrarianism, import-substitution industrialization, and neoliberalism. In the third part of the course, students will examine prominent social themes, including migration to the U.S., the drug trade and the North-South divide. This course will prepare students to better understand and evaluate Mexico's political, economic and social achievements and failures, as well as its relations with other major actors, most notably its northern neighbor.

Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Demonstrate the ability to describe the social, political, and economic forces that influence social behavior, particularly in Mexico
2. Use this knowledge in a practical problem-solving way to analyze and address issues of immediate international concern (Problem-solving in International Affairs)
 - a. Understand relevant political, economic and social concepts and debates
 - b. Assess different approaches and frameworks to interpret and evaluate key questions and problems in contemporary Mexican politics, economy and society
3. Enhance their awareness of the diversity of ethical systems in the world (Cultural and Ethical Awareness)
4. Express their arguments clearly and effectively both in written reports and class discussions (Professional Development)

Readings

Knight, Alan. The Mexican Revolution: a very short introduction. Oxford University Press, 2016.

Camín, Héctor Aguilar, and Lorenzo Meyer. In the Shadow of the Mexican Revolution: Contemporary Mexican History, 1910–1989. University of Texas Press, 2010

Final Presentation	April 16, 2024	30%

Description of Requirements

1. Attendance and Participation. You are required to attend class and participate in discussions and other activities. You will be graded on both the quantity and quality of your contributions. Attendance and participation will account for 20% of your final grade.
2. Short essays. At the end of Parts I (Mexican Politics) and II (Mexican Economy) of the course, you will receive a prompt for a short essay (6 double-space pages, 12-point font, 1-inch margins). You will have 72 hours to complete the essay. The two essays will account for 50% of the final grade (25% each).
3. Final Presentation. At the end of the course, you will prepare a 25 – 30-minute presentation assessing the current MORENA government. Detailed instructions will be provided on March 28, 2024. The presentation will account for 30% of the final grade.

Grading Scale

Final grades will be assigned according to the following scale:

A	90-100%
B	80-89%
C	70-79%
D	65-69%
F	0-64%

Policy for Late Assignments

Late assignments are strongly discouraged and will incur penalties except in the event of an illness or emergency (documentation will be requested). Any major scheduling conflicts – including those that arise due to participation in “approved Institute activities” – should be discussed with the professor at least two weeks before the assignment due date. For assignments turned in less than 24 hours late, the penalty will be a deduction of 20% off the assignment grade. The professor will not accept assignments turned in over 24 hours late.

Feedback and contact with the faculty

1. Office Hours. The professor will meet with students during office hours to answer any questions or concerns. To schedule a meeting, you should email the professor to make the necessary arrangements.
2. Email Policy. Email is the best way to contact the professor. You should expect responses within a 24-hour period. In every email, please include the course number in the subject line (i.e. INTA 3020).

Accommodations for Individuals with Disabilities

The professor will work with Office of Disability Services so that all students have an equal opportunity for success. Information is available at: <http://disabilityservices.gatech.edu/>

Academic integrity and Honor Code

While students are encouraged to work together and collaborate with each other, you should clearly differentiate your work from that of others, including peers and bibliographical sources. Complete and accurate representation of all direct quotations and paraphrased material is required. Plagiarizing or cheating will be addressed in accordance with the Georgia Tech Honor Code.
